Nurse—"The new patient in our ward is light-headed."
Doctor—"Delirious or blonde?"

"And what if you did lose a six-pence on a horse?"
"It's not only myself. There's six of us in it."

Sandy was engaged to a girl who, a few days before graduation, succumbed to the appeals of her friends and had her hair bobbed. They congratulated her on her improved appearance and it was therefore without any misgivings that she showed herself to her sweetheart. However, Sandy viewed her with gravity.

"It's hard on me, lassie," he said, "verra hard! After I've bought ye a packet o' hairpins for a graduation gift."

Barber (to new assistant): "This man wants a shave."

Assistant: "Let me practice on him."

Barber: "Well, all right; but be careful and don't cut yourself."

The problem of creating a sound effect to simulate water being poured into a glass from a pitcher caused a major disturbance during a broadcast rehearsal a few days ago. The production men and the entire crew of sound-effecters tried a variety of ways, crickles of sand, all in vain.

In the midst of the technical despair a page boy suggested, "Why not pour water into a glass from a pitcher?"

They did.

The new assistant at the seed shop was having a harassing time. Someone had ordered a packet of potato seed, and he had spent two hours looking for them, without success. At last he asked the boss about them.

"What!" roared the boss. "Potatoes are not grown from seed. You've been having your leg pulled."

Ten minutes later a customer entered the shop and asked for some bird seed. To his surprise the assistant wagged a finger at him.

"Go on," he said, "I can't be fooled twice. Birds are hatched out of eggs, not seed."

HAILE SELASSIE INTERVIEWED

Visit To Europe Explained

FAITH IN LEAGUE

(Hong Kong Daily Press) Special

Paris, June 6.

Emperor Haile Selassie in an interview with the London correspondent of "Le Journal" declared that the main object of his visit to Europe is in defence of the Abyssinian cause and that he would never have travelled westward if he had not entire confidence in the League of Nations.

His rights in Abyssinia—so the Emperor went on to affirm—still remain intact both de jure and de facto since his Government after evacuating Addis Ababa has retired to Western Abyssinia.

In reply to a question whether he intended to take up arms again to enforce his rights, the Emperor replied that he aimed at a peaceful settlement of the conflict.

In conclusion the Emperor reiterated his conviction that the bulk of the Ethiopian people had remained loyal to him and that the Italian victory has only been achieved by the employment of means in warfare prohibited by treaties.

TERRORISM IN PALESTINE

Campaign Against Arms Possession

ARABS ARRESTED

Jerusalem, June 6. Intensified efforts are being made by the authorities to curb terrorism by preventing the smuggling of arms and explosives into the country and by seizing all those already illegally possessed. Two Jews illegally possessing automatics were shot and seriously injured by a party of British Palestinian constables after being challenged near Jaffa.

Four Arabs were arrested after the discovery that explosives had audaciously been stolen from a Government magazine alongside a British police camp at Mount Scopus. An order has been issued calling up reservists of the Trans-Jordan frontier force to help against smuggling.

A Halfa message states that several Moslem women, who were alleged to have been intimidated by vegetable vendors, were destroying their produce in the centre of the disturbance this morning. The police dealing with the situation were stoned, but dispersed the crowd, and are now patrolling the streets with fixed bayonets.

The situation is tense.

GATHERING OF REPUBLICANS

New Deal To Be Attacked

NOMINATION FOR PRESIDENT

Cleveland, June 6. Hundreds of Republican Party leaders have arrived here for the convention which opens officially on June 9.

The Republican are prepared for a determined onslaught upon the New Deal, with the slogan, "Back to Sanity with—", the name of the man who wins the nomination for the Republican presidential candidacy to be inserted.

Governor Alfred Landon, it is anticipated in many quarters, will fill the blank. But feeling has been aroused by the charges of Senator William Borah's supporters that Governor Landon is really pro-New Deal, and is backed by greedy oil monopolists. The supporters of Colonel Frank Knox, the Chicago publisher, are rallying around Senator Borah in an effort to prevent Governor Landon's nomination.

The Landonites retort to these charges that Senator Borah himself was a backer of President Roosevelt at the start, and should have become a Democrat.

Thus there is every promise that controversial scenes will be aroused when the balloting begins. Governor Landon's supporters claim he will be chosen in the first ballot, but his opponents declare this is absurd over-confidence.

The total of the delegates will be 1,001, nearly 800 of whom are coming uncommitted.

LEAGUE COUNCIL MEETING

DUM-DUM MYTH EXPOSED

Mr. Eden States The Facts

ITALIANS GULLED

An Adventurer's Aliases

Westminster, May 18.

Mr. Eden gave the House of Commons an illuminating and crushing exposure of the origins and of the falsity of the Italian allegations that this country had supplied dum-dum bullets to the Abyssinians. His account produced an equal measure of indignation and astonishment at the clumsiness of this Italian fabrication, and did even more than achieve his professed object of clearing the good name of British industry and of this country.

The Foreign Secretary pointed out that there was some of this ammunition in Abyssinia before the outbreak of hostilities. It had been left behind by big-game hunters, or come over the border from other territories where big game was hunted. These bullets, with many other kinds, circulated in a country where arms and ammunition were a kind of currency. It was brought by its possessors when they were mobilised, and possibly used by those who could not be equipped with modern weapons. The unhappy Abyssinian soldiers had to use anything they had got.

"CLIPPED" CARTRIDGES

The first Italian allegation that these bullets had been supplied by British firms for military purposes was exposed in a document circulated to the League on February 4. This showed that the cartridges illustrated in Italian evidence had once made in some cases 20 years before, and that the Italians had changed an Abyssinian order for modern cartridges "in clips of five" to an order for "clipped" cartridges.

The charge was in any case ridiculous, because exports of arms and ammunition from this country were most strictly controlled and no licence had been or would ever be given for the export of illegal ammunition. But on April 12 the "Messaggero" published photographs purporting to show such ammunition, made, packed, and consigned to Abyssinia by Messrs. George Bate, of Birmingham, together with a letter from that firm.

A FORGED LETTER

At this point Mr. Eden detailed the really astonishing part of the story. On February 19, he said, a certain Colonel Pedro Lopez, known to the Foreign Office under many other names, called on Messrs. Bate with a forged letter from the Bank of Egypt and a false statement that he was an agent of the Abyssinian Government. He asked for samples of ammunition, including dum-dum bullets, which, he explained, were necessary to kill the leopards with which the country was infested. After some difficulty the firm supplied samples and, at Lopez's insistence, a covering letter to the Abyssinian Minister which Lopez himself dictated. This letter and the samples were taken away by Lopez and, of course, never delivered.

The character of Lopez and the fact of his association with the Italian Military Attaché being known, the Foreign Office at this point gave the Italian Embassy a friendly warning. Signor Grandi replied gratefully, and explained that he personally had known nothing of Lopez and his works. But the letter procured by a trick from Messrs. Bate appeared in the Italian Press.

OFFER OF AMMUNITION

Moreover, Lopez, under the name of Colonel Mezler, went to the Abyssinian Minister and offered to supply ammunition in return for concessions. A list of ammunition to be supplied was drawn up and signed by the Minister. It included 3,000,000 soft-nosed bullets, an item which the Minister now declared he did not notice. This was certainly true, because the Minister well knew that he could not have obtained the bullets, even if ordered.

There, Mr. Eden concluded, was the whole of the story. Though the Italian Note on the subject had been cancelled, it had been informally circulated, and therefore this exposure must be made widely known in all countries. Nothing less was due to the national honour.

It was certainly vindicated in the House, Members earnestly

CATHEDRAL SERMON

The following sermon was delivered by the Rev. H. W. Baines at the St. John's Cathedral yesterday morning:

Wonder and awe together make one of the dominant notes that is sounded in the Bible. Wherever a man is called to meet his maker a hush falls and in awe and wonder he waits. It seems as though upon the writers who tell of the divine summons to Abraham and Moses and Elijah and Isaiah there fell a warning of their own littleness and as they relate the engagement of God and man, creature and Creator, they put their shoes from off their feet and dare to use only sacred words to tell of Holy things. It is in the same spirit that the deacon in the Russian Liturgy cries to the people "Holy things to the holy people" warning them to prepare for their Holy Communion.

The holiness and the wonder of God infinite and uncreated, ever to be worshipped and ever to be adored, is the mark which Hebrew religion has left most indelibly upon Christianity which sprang from it. Religion which means the bond between man and God, is a "mysterium tremendum." To Greece it may be that we owe the purpose to know God and His ways; to Palestine we owe the inevitable urge to worship Him.

CREATURELY OBESANCE

And remember that this humble attitude of creaturely obseance was not as is so often suggested by the feeble minded, given to us by people who took it to be the appropriate posture to adopt before a deity who might at any moment obliterate you with a thunder bolt or turn you into a rat. It was rather the response, that in this case was common to Greek and Jew alike, that they felt they must make to the moral perfection and unspooled "beauty" of God. Nor again is the awe and worship found only in the Old Testament; it is the characteristic experience and attitude of those who have progressed furthest in the road of discipleship to the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ.

CHILDREN'S PART

At the same time there is in Christian worship a new note and it is sung by children. Unless ye become as a little child ye cannot enter into the Kingdom of Heaven. There is about the Christian saints a delicious and spontaneous childlike joy lighting up their wonder. Is not that the song of St. Francis "All creatures of our God and King lift up your hearts and with us sing?" In the same tradition is our own "All things bright and beautiful all creatures great and small. All things wise and wonderful the Lord God made them all." There is always in harmony in developed Christian worship the echo which St. John heard in Heaven from those who cried never ceasing "Holy, Holy, Holy Lord God of Hosts" and the shrill cry of the children as Jesus rode into Jerusalem "Blessed is He that cometh in the name of the Lord, Hosannah in the highest."

THE REASON

And the reason of this is not far to seek. The "mysterium tremendum" of God is not the mystery of an incomprehensible proposition, of an idea of God which nobody but a professor can understand. It is not the fact of God the Blessed Trinity that is hard to understand but the quality of the fact that we with our human senses cannot probe to its limitless depths. When I look upon a scene of exquisite natural beauty or receive an act of undeserved generosity I do not doubt its existence I only stand amazed before its wonder. Indeed an undifferentiated unitary divine being is strictly speaking unintelligible; but a God whose nature it is to give Himself in love, to impart of His own excellence and to rejoice in that which He Himself has begotten, whose property is ever to have mercy and forgive;—such a God is made known and knowable to us although we are abased in wonder before the humility of Bethlehem, the simplicity of Galilee, the dark majesty of Calvary, and the beauty of the Easter Morning. The wonder of God reaches its climax for demand that Lopez should be expelled and that the action of members of the Italian Embassy should not be passed over. But Mr. Eden explained that Lopez was a British subject of Polish origin, and that he was concerned to clear the national reputation, not to animadvert upon a foreign Embassy. The matter was then allowed to drop.

us not in the astonishing revelation of creation nor even in the perfect sinlessness of Jesus but in the depths of the love of one who in the moment of His certain knowledge of His own supremacy girded Himself with a towel and washed His disciples' feet.

THE MEANING OF GOD

The meaning of God is known to us when we see Jesus' life as one act of self offering, made available so that we can share it by the ministry of the Holy Ghost, who sheds the love of God among us. That life of self offering in which we can share is painted for us in an eternally vivid picture and re-enacted for us in such a way that we can live in it ourselves. In this Service of Holy Communion, is it not the Christ in whom the Father is well pleased, the Son of His love whose words we take on our own lips as He offers Himself again, "This is My Body," "this is My Blood which is given for you," whose gesture we repeat, "this do" breaking His Body, "this do" spilling His Life? It is through Jesus Christ, our Lord that we are taken up with all our earthly pre-occupation and business into the Heavenly places while the same spirit which has always been His messenger to men cleanses us from defilement with intercessions that cannot be uttered, presents us in union with the perfect sacrifice so that we with all the children whose infant voices beseege His courts and all those who are still fighting the tussel and the battle of life and with those life-scarred veterans of our pilgrimage lift up our voices until they are lost in the Heavenly chorus "Holy, Holy, Holy, Lord God of Hosts, heaven and earth are full of thy glory, glory be to thee Oh Lord most high."

LORD ALLENBY'S FUNERAL

London, May 16.

The War Office yesterday issued particulars of the funeral of Field Marshal Lord Allenby, to be held at Westminster Abbey at 11 a.m. on Tuesday.

The King will be represented by Field Marshal Sir Philip Chetwode, while Field Marshal the Duke of Connaught will be represented by Field Marshal Sir Claude Jacob.

The bearer party will be provided by the Life Guards, and trumpeters from the 16/5th Lancers will sound the "Last Post" and "Réveille" at the service.

Admission will be by ticket, and applications from those desirous of attending should be made in writing to the Under Secretary of State (Room 268), the War Office, London, S.W. 1, and not to the Abbey authorities, the envelopes being marked "Funeral." As accommodation is limited, preference in allotting tickets must necessarily be given to relatives and to those who were associated with Lord Allenby during his lifetime. There will be no public procession. All ticket-holders will therefore proceed direct to the Abbey, and will be in their places not later than 10.30 a.m.

It is particularly requested that uniforms should be worn on this occasion. The dress for army officers will be full dress dmounted or, alternatively, service dress. Decorations and medals will be worn.

A "GOODWILL" CARGO

London, May 12.

A "goodwill" cargo will be carried by the Queen Mary on her maiden voyage. It consists of fifty-two illuminated addresses from the Cinque Ports to namesake towns in the United States. These were presented to Mr. R. Bingham, the American Ambassador, at the Embassy to-day. Mayors and officials of the Cinque Ports and representatives of the Fellowship of Namesake Towns attended.

Mr. Bingham said that the addresses were a gesture of co-operation between the peoples of the two countries. Referring to the launching of the Queen Mary he said that he was deeply affected when King George declared that the Queen Mary really represented the tie between them.

Mr. E. M. Ford, Mayor of Hastings, mentioned that there were thirty-two Dovers, ten Hastings, five Ryes, three Sandwiches, and two Romneys in the United States.

TELEVISION

London, May 22.

Rapid progress is being made with the laying of Britain's first long-distance television cable, that between London and Birmingham, and I understand it will be available for radiating programmes at the end of the year. Thus the Midlands will only be a few months behind the Metropolis in sampling the new service, as television will not become a public institution here until the beginning of July at the earliest. Plans for extending the cable to Manchester have also been sanctioned, and although no decision has yet been made in regard to carrying it over the Border, I am told that such an extension may be approved shortly. The special cable now being laid down can be used for telephonic communication, so that its usefulness will not be impaired if and when television stations are built in different parts of the country.

LEGAL BATTLE FOR REGIMENTAL COLOURS

Welsh Claim To Flag In Warwick

CHURCH OPPOSES REMOVAL

London, May 20.

Battles before Trafalgar were mentioned yesterday in the hearing of an application for a faculty to remove the colours of the 24th Foot Regiment—now the South Wales Borderers—from St. Mary's Church, Warwick, to Brecon Cathedral. Brecon is the depot of the regiment.

The hearing was before the Chancellor for Coventry Diocese, Sir Edward Hansell, K.C., at the Niblett Hall, the Temple. Sir Edward reserved judgment.

It was contended by Mr. L. M. May that the colours were the property of the vicar and churchwardens of St. Mary's.

Mr. L. O. Blagdon, on behalf of the South Wales Borderers, submitted that there had been no connection between Warwick and the regiment since 1814.

Mr. May argued that the legal right and ownership of the colours was a matter of common law, military custom and King's Regulations. He submitted that the present proceedings should stand over until the legal ownership had been decided.

Commenting on a letter showing that the Dean of Brecon was willing to receive the colours, Mr. May said that the Dean as a Church dignitary might be glad to accept custody of colours offered willingly by all parties concerned. He might not, however, be glad to receive the colours if he knew that their removal was being opposed strongly by all people in Warwick.

WITNESS OF GALLANTRY

Mr. May submitted that the colours had been at the Church for many years. They were an irreplaceable witness of the gallantry of local fighters in the regiment. They were of great historical interest in relation to Warwick, and they could never be replaced.

"The chapel at Brecon Cathedral," he said, "was primarily dedicated to the memory of the South Wales Borderers during the Great War."

"There is nothing to show," he continued, "that if the colours are removed to Brecon they will have any more permanent resting place than they have had for the past 87 years at Warwick."

There was laughter when he added: "For all we know, the Army Council in their wisdom may convert the South Wales Borderers into, shall we say, the Black Watch."

"I contend," he concluded, "it would be very undesirable to make a precedent of this kind—it would make a lot of such colours unstable."

GREAT WAR COLOURS

Mr. Blagdon said if the colours were taken away there would still be some 24 more left in the church. These included eight or nine commemorating the Great War service of the Warwick Regiment—colours which were worn by a regiment which was connected with Warwick.

It was clear that the whole of the parochial objection proceeded from a natural mistake of historical fact.

In 1782 an order was made that the then Warwick Regiment was to endeavour to cultivate Warwick as a recruiting ground. This did not seem to show that the Regiment had any particular connection with Warwick. The recruiting company of the Regiment went to East Anglia, Devon, Ireland, and even overseas.

They knew that for a time before the Battle of Trafalgar there was a recruiting base at Tamworth, which later was changed to various places, including Coventry and Warwick. But that was for the 2nd Battalion, which went to the Peninsula in 1809.

Men who fought there were not the men who fought at Chillianwallah, in India.

The 2nd Battalion was disbanded after that war, and it was not until some time in the 1850's that it was reformed at Sheffield. There the connection with Warwickshire began and ended.

It had also been pointed out in evidence that the Chillianwallah casualties showed a predominance of Irish names, while older soldiers had to a large extent Welsh names. This was only to be expected, since

KING SEES PLAY IN DRAWING ROOM

Last Act Of "Storm In A Tea Cup"

CAST AND SCENERY FROM THEATRE

London, May 16.

The King last night saw a special performance of the last act of "Storm in a Teacup." It had been transferred from the Haymarket Theatre to a West-end drawing-room.

His Majesty was the guest at dinner of Lady Cunard, who arranged for the whole cast of the play to come to her house at 7, Grosvenor-square immediately after the fall of the curtain at the theatre. Only 15 people besides the King saw the performance.

All the cast—some 20 actors and actresses—appear in the last act of the play, and they drove in cars and taxicabs to Grosvenor-square. Most of them were still wearing their make-up and costumes.

Stage hands, with their cabs, brought the essential furniture for the act. The scene is set in a Scottish court, and the properties included the witness box and the judicial bench. A few pieces of scenery, which were available in duplicate, had been taken to Lady Cunard's house earlier in the evening.

AMUSED BY DOG PERFORMER

The last act was chosen because it is most representative of the play as a whole. It includes a scene in the court and others in a corridor outside. A special prologue was written for the occasion by James Bridie, who adapted the play from the German of Bruno Frank.

The King greatly enjoyed the performance and applauded heartily. At the close Mr. Ian MacLennan, Miss Ivy Des Voeux, Mr. Roger Livesey, Miss Sara Allgood, and Mr. C. M. Hallard, members of the company, were presented to the King. He told them how much he enjoyed the show.

He was greatly amused at the antics of the mongrel dog, Faley. Miss Sara Allgood, its mistress in real life as well as in the play, told him that she bought it at the Battersea Dogs' Home for 5s.

The King left alone at 1.25 this morning.

The War Office had established a permanent depot at Brecon.

Mr. Blagdon submitted that it was abundantly proved there was no real lasting connection between the regiment and Warwickshire.

The Chancellor promised to deliver his judgment in writing. It would then be sent to the registrar at Warwick, where the claim was first heard.

CROWD THRILLED BY KILTED PARADE

400 Members Of London
Scottish Inspected

London, May 18.

With kilts swinging rhythmically and the officers' swords flashing in the brilliant sunshine over 400 members of the London Scottish Battalion, headed by their band of pipers, marched from headquarters at Buckingham Gate to Hyde Park, London, on Saturday.

There thousands of people were thrilled by an inspection and review of the parade by Major-General P. R. C. Cummings, C.B.E., C.M.G., D.S.O., General Officer Commanding, London Division.

Major-General Cummings entered the parade area on a brown charger. At the same time a Union Jack was run up at the saluting base, and the battalion stood at "present arms" for a general salute.

DUCHESS OF YORK'S REGRETS

After the inspection Colonel L. D. Henderson, M.C., T.D., who was in command of the parade, led his men past Major-General Cummings in open and close column of companies.

One of the objects of the parade was to stimulate recruiting to the battalion. The last parade of this type was held in 1930.

The Duchess of York, Honorary Colonel of the regiment, wrote expressing her regret at being unable to attend.

The 1st Battalion of the London Scottish held a reunion at their headquarters on Saturday night.

THE BARRETTES OF WIMPOLE STREET

If you wish to see one of the ten best pictures of the year, hurry to the Star Theatre and relax in the lavender and old lace of "The Barretts of Wimpole Street," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's new film starring Norma Shearer.

The cast includes some of the greatest names of Alldom, headed by three winners of the Motion Picture Academy Award: Norma Shearer, Fredric March and Charles Laughton. The romantic team's beautiful presentation of an idyllic love story is all the more accentuated by the diabolical character Charles Laughton makes of the elder Barrett.

Never was Miss Shearer more beautiful or charming, nor March more ardent, nor Laughton more fascinatingly Laughton. The supporting players hold their own, even with these experts of dramatics. They are Maureen O'Sullivan, Ralph Forbes, Una O'Connor, Katharine Alexander, Marion Clayton, Leo Carroll, Ian Wolfe and Ferdinand Munier—each excellent in their part.

Of Sidney Franklin's direction, no more can be said than that it surpasses even "Smilin' Through" and "The Guardsman."

CEILING ZERO

Packed with thrilling action, dynamic drama, comedy and romance, "Ceiling Zero" is due shortly at the Queen's Theatre.

Cagney is a devil with the ladies. He makes a play for the pretty air hostess, played by a new comer, June Travis, whom he knows is engaged to a fellow pilot. In order to keep a date, he gets Erwin into a fog and is killed. Cagney is completely broken up especially when he sees Isabel Jewell Erwin's wife. Then orders come for Wadsworth to take up a plane in a terrible fog. He knocks him on the head in order to save him for June and makes the run himself, which he knows will result in certain death.

Martha Tibbets as O'Brien's wife has also had an affair with Cagney in the past, deserves mentioning. Others in the cast include Barton MacLane, as the owner of the Aviation Co., Crain Reynolds, Richard Purcell, Carlyle Moore Jr., Addison Richards, Gary Owens, Edward Gargan, Robert Light, James Bush and Pat West.

ANYTHING GOES

Paramount's presentation of "Anything Goes," the Broadway musical comedy success now showing at the Queen's Theatre.

It is a sparkling happy comedy, and contains all the famous song hits associated with the play. The audience proved enthusiastic over this screen offering. Bing Crosby, the singing star, is the feature attraction, and carried off honors with his breezy style of acting and singing. The high point of the picture, vocally, is a set of parodies on "You're the Top" which he and Ethel Merman sing, and which evoke surprise and delight.

Others in the cast of players are Charlie Ruggles, Ida Lupino and Grace Bradley.

In addition to the song hits associated with its name, the picture has new songs by Cole Porter and others. The direction is by Lewis Milestone, and the dance routines were elaborated by LeRoy Prinz.

WARNER BAXTER ROMANTIC

Dashing Figure In Mexican Film

Memories of Warner Baxter's first talking film in 1929, "In Old Arizona," are revived by "Robin Hood of El Dorado" which began a season at King's and Alhambra Theatres yesterday.

Baxter is still the dashing romantic figure that he was in the earlier film, and brings back that fascinating foreign accent which he managed so well then. Allegedly based on a slice of Mexican history, Baxter plays the part of a poor peon, who, overburdened with taxes and robbed of his land, determines to free his fellow men from the yoke of tyranny.

He begins a reign of terror with hold-ups, shootings, plundering and bloodshed. It is all in a good cause however for like his English namesake, the Mexican Robin Hood is one of those fictional heroes who rob the rich merely to pay the poor.

The film is also noteworthy for the first screen appearance of Ann Loring, a graduate from the American stage, who plays the feminine lead in dignified style. Bruce Cabot, continues his playing of bad men, as leader of the none too scrupulous sheriff's posse.

Also on the programme at both theatres is a Laurel and Hardy comedy, "Thicker Than Water."

BLIND LANDINGS

WIRELESS BEACONS
FOR BRITISH AIRCRAFT

London, May 22.

The first British passenger aeroplane to be fitted with the special wireless apparatus to assist in making blind landings has been delivered to British Continental Airways, and will leave for Stockholm to-day to take part in the flying displays arranged in association with the International Aero Exhibition now being held in that city. This aeroplane, a de Havilland four-engined express liner of the improved type, was on show yesterday at Heston to afford interested persons the chance of trying the system of Lorenz wireless beacons which has been installed at that aerodrome to lead aircraft in on a safe approach path in times of bad visibility. This machine and others of the same type shortly to be delivered will operate the daily service of British Continental Airways between London and Sweden.

The improvements in this machine are mostly designed to enable a higher pay-load to be carried for the same engine power. The structure has been strengthened, and the undercarriage given a higher measure of resilience. The engine cowling has been redesigned to diminish drag, and improvements have been made in the design of the wing-tips in the interests of better lateral stability. The chief interest of the new type rests particularly in the success of the constructors in building into the aeroplane all the necessary devices for screening the electrical circuits which would otherwise interfere with the reception of the very short wireless waves on which the signals of the landing beacons are carried. This aeroplane appears to promise the incorporation of this apparatus as part of the standard fittings of new machines as they are produced in the future, whereas operators who at present desire to make use of the wireless beacons must go to the expense of having the wireless circuits screened.

TRIAL FLIGHT

A short flight in this aeroplane yesterday afternoon showed both the adequacy of the screening and the efficiency of the beacons in enabling a pilot to follow the prescribed approach path. In yesterday's good visibility it was impossible to try the system in the hardest conditions, but the trial showed it to be equally possible for a pilot to get off his course if he paid due attention to the beacon signals received in his earphones and actuating the beacon by his dial. The approach was made from a distance of about five miles. At that range the sustained note from the main

FAR EAST DRUG TRAFFIC

Geneva, May 21.

It was declared at to-day's meeting of the League Committee on Drug Traffic that in 1934 enough materials to make from 25 to 50 times the quantity of heroin needed to meet the world's legitimate requirements were imported into China.

Mr. Stuart Fuller, the United States representative, in making this statement, said that the imports weighed 50 tons.

beacon, the dots signifying deviation to the right and the dashes denoting deviation to the left, were clearly received. On passing over the first marker beacon some 3,000 yards from the aerodrome boundary a series of dots of a lower tone gave a signal which could not be mistaken.

This is the point at which in bad weather the pilot is supposed to begin his glide towards the aerodrome, preserving, with the aid of an instrument on the dash board, a uniform rate of descent. Within 300 yards of the aerodrome the high-pitch "pip-pip" signal of the inner marker beacon is received, and the pilot prepares to land on an aerodrome which he is unable to see. The preservation of a steady angle of glide appears to be the particularly skilled part of the process, but the technique has been acquired by the German pilots and may be expected soon to be familiar to British pilots. A set of wireless beacons is being set up experimentally at Croydon, and some such system may soon be part of the equipment of every aerodrome which is liable to fog or heavy mist.

SMUGGLING IN CHINA

British
Representation
To Japan

London, May 21.

Mr. Chorlton (Bury, U.) asked what restrictions had been placed by the Japanese authorities on the number of Chinese revenue cutters in Chinese territorial waters covered by the Tangku truce; and what reply the Japanese Government had given to the representations of his Majesty's Government as to the difficulties experienced by the Chinese authorities in combating smuggling activities.

Mr. Parker (Romford, Lab.) asked a question on the same subject. Mr. Eden.—According to my information, there is at present no precise restriction as to the number of Customs vessels that may operate in the coastal waters of the demilitarized zone. So far as these vessels are concerned the real difficulty would seem to lie in the condition made by the Japanese military authorities that they shall not carry arms in this area.

The situation is receiving the close attention of his Majesty's Government, and the difficulties experienced by the Chinese authorities in combating smuggling activities have recently been brought to the urgent notice of the Japanese Government by his Majesty's Ambassador in Tokyo. The reply of the Japanese Government to these representations was to the effect that the present smuggling campaign must be attributed partly to the high tariff rates imposed by the Chinese Government and partly to lack of interest on the part of Chinese local authorities in safeguarding revenues which accrue to the Central Government.

LANE CRAWFORD'S PROFIT

DESPITE A DIFFICULT YEAR'S TRADING

Efforts To Bring Store Up-To-Date

HOPE FOR THE FUTURE

A profitable working year was reported by Mr. J. H. Taggart on Saturday when he presided at the annual meeting of Lane, Crawford & Co. Limited. Improved trading during the last four months of the year and the timely reorganisation of capital, he said, had absorbed the heavy loss evident in the accounts.

True trading results for the year were obscured by the abnormal conditions arising from the capital reorganisation and the vagaries of exchange, he said, but with exchange pegged, profitable trading was possible.

REORGANISATION PLAN

Mr. Taggart said:—The change of auditors has been explained in the directors' report. The appointment of Linstead & Davies to act in the dual capacity of secretaries and accountants to the company brings relief to the management, and permits the application of more time to the supervision of the store itself.

I will preface my comments on the accounts now under consideration with a brief reference to the capital reorganisation which was carried out during the year, and with the details of which shareholders are already familiar.

You may recollect that my predecessor, in his speech from the chair last year, indicated that owing to various circumstances over which we had little or no control, heavy losses must be experienced in disposing of our stocks. In the scheme of reorganisation, therefore, provision was made to meet this loss by writing down stock values by an amount of $342,005.52, which represented the difference between book values and the then existing market value or, in some instances, residual values.

That a heavy loss has been experienced is evident from the accounts but, thanks to the effect of a timely reorganisation, augmented by results of improved trading conditions during the last four months of the financial year, the loss has been absorbed. If you refer to the accounts, you find that from the working account for the year, there emerges a credit balance of $191,912.76.

EXCHANGE VAGARIES
From the foregoing, you will gather that the true trading results for the year are obscured by the influence of abnormal conditions arising from capital reorganisation carried into effect during the year, and by the vagaries of exchange. The factor of exchange in the first instance forced us to reorganise in order to meet a heavy loss, and later, since exchange has been pegged at or about its present level, has made more profitable trading possible.

To deal now with the debit side of the profit and loss account, the charge for depreciation has been reduced by $10,236.10 as compared with the previous year. This is the result of the reorganisation whereby substantial amounts were written off the book value of certain fixed assets. Adequate rates of depreciation have been applied.

Bad debts, amounting to $3,791.89 have been written off, and the reserve for bad and doubtful debts maintained at a figure of $10,000. If shareholders consider the turnover during twelve months, and the total amount of Debtors at the close of the year, I think they will agree that the loss under this heading is remarkably small.

STAFF COMMISSION
The figure of commission to staff, although a charge against Working Account, is published for the information of shareholders. In computing commissions, the staff have been given the benefit of any profit arising from the sale of written down stocks since, in the opinion of the directors, the work involved in disposing of these stocks was especially arduous. The efforts of the staff in clearing stocks were responsible in no small measure for minimising the losses for which we had provided.

Expenses of reconditioning the basement and store, excluding the amounts spent on new fixtures and fittings and assets in the balance sheet, amounted to $33,157.37. From this figure has been deducted the reserve for building improvements of $15,000, which appropriation was approved by you at the general meeting held last year. This leaves a charge against this year's working of $18,157.37, which your board have decided to write off in total.

I think you will agree that the expenditure is justified both as regards the care and the new layout in the store, particularly on the mezzanine floor, to which I make further reference later. To turn now to the balance sheet. There is little I can say to amplify the information clearly stated therein. The statement has been drawn up to give effect to the scheme of capital reorganisation which was carried out in October last year.

REFITTING COSTS
Total fixed assets show a reduction of $32,235.55 compared with the previous year, due mainly to the effects of the reorganisation. The heaviest item of additions appears under fixtures and fittings and represents chiefly the cost of refitting the ladies' salon, the furnishing department and the Cafe Wiseman.

Building improvements represent expenditure on the first floor of Exchange Building. Further expenditure of some $20,000 has been met since the close of the financial year, but your directors are satisfied that the earning capacity of the building has been considerably enhanced as a result of these improvements.

Stocks, including stocks in transit, amount to $526,524.19, a reduction of $182,808.79 compared with last year. They are valued on the basis of cost or market value, whichever is lower, and measures have been taken to minimise the effects of redundancy or deterioration.

Sundry debtors amount to $167,235.55, an increase of $466.21 over last year. The reserve for bad and doubtful debts has been maintained as a normal precaution against any unforeseen contingency, and I am satisfied as to the realisability of the Book Debts.

On the Liabilities side, the effect of the reorganisation is seen in the increased figure of authorised capital, the reduced figure of subscribed capital, and the elimination of general reserve.

Loan Capital has been repaid to the extent of $100,000, and now stands at a figure of $1,800,000.

The higher figure of trade creditors is accounted for by the increased dollar cost of purchases due to the lower rates of exchange prevailing at the end of the financial year.

BANK INDEBTEDNESS

Indebtedness to the Bank shows an increase of $75,432.76. This increase should be considered in conjunction with the sums expended in reducing loan capital and additions and improvements to fixed assets. The conclusion is that the company has emerged from its financial trials very creditably and, given a period of peaceful trading free from violent exchange fluctuations, I am satisfied that the cash position will rapidly improve.

It only remains to consider the balance of profit and loss account, and reiterate the recommendations submitted in the directors' report that the balance of $116,701.60 be carried forward to next account. From my comments on the working account and the revaluation of stocks on reorganisation, the obvious inference is that it would be palpably imprudent to consider any distribution until it is established beyond question that the company, as reorganised, is capable of earning profits under normal trading conditions.

Having dealt with the accounts before you, I will now make brief additional reference to the changes and improvements which have been effected in your organisation during the year under review.

DEPARTMENTS CLOSED
On the closure of the hardware, office equipment, and shiphandlery departments, the sports equipment and toys and games sections were transferred to the ground floor, and the space thus vacated was allotted to the ladies' salon and furnishing department. The additional area made possible the laying out of the ladies' salon on modern lines which offer every convenience to our clientele.

In the furnishing department, the extra area has been utilised to meet the need for improvement in display space; model rooms have been built, and customers may now view furnishings as they appear in actual use. In passing, I would make mention of the fact that the show cases, furniture, etc., which have been installed were made in our own workshops.

Further alterations are in hand on the ground floor, where an improved layout of our provisions, confectionery, and cake departments, has been planned, and I feel I may say with every confidence that on the completion of this work, no better shopping facilities could be found in the East.

In connection with the alterations to the first floor of Exchange Building, the transference of our cafe to the front basement premises has permitted the use of this area for renting purposes. The company's offices, and those of Linstead and Davies, our secretaries and accountants, are accommodated on this floor.

REST ROOM
At the south end of the floor, directly connected with the store, a ladies' cloak room, beauty parlour, and rest room have been installed. The beauty parlour, which has been rented to a well known local specialist, is furnished with the latest equipment, and the adjoining lounge will be a welcome addition to the Store facilities as a retreat where ladies may, during the fatiguing hours of shopping, rest and enjoy refreshments in really delightful surroundings.

And finally, I would refer to the changes that have taken place in your directorate since the date of the last general meeting. Sir William Shenton, who had been your chairman for many years, and Mr. E. J. Davies retired, and Messrs. R. A. Dastur, D. C. Edmondston, P. H. Suckling, and S. T. Williamson, have joined the Board.

I now propose formally that the report of the directors and the accounts for the financial year ended February 29th, 1936, as presented, be adopted, and when this has been seconded, I shall be pleased to answer any questions that shareholders may wish to ask.

SECONDER'S SPEECH

Mr. H. B. L. Dowbiggin said:—I have listened with much interest to the chairman's speech and I wish to thank you, for the very full report which you have submitted to shareholders—not only on the accounts but on the general activities of the Company during the past year.

I feel confident that I voice the opinion of shareholders when I express satisfaction with the outcome of your scheme of reorganisation and with the state of the company's affairs as set out in the accounts now before the meeting.

We appreciate the extraordinary trading conditions with which the company has had to contend during the past year, and we are prepared to accept the recommendations of the board with regard to the disposal of the balance at credit of profit and loss account. Thanks to the diligent manner in which our directors applied themselves to the intricate pro-

LOITERER BOUND OVER

Au Kang, 37, unemployed was charged before Mr. S. F. Balfour at the Central Court on Saturday with loitering in the garden of No. 440, Kennedy Road at 2.45 a.m. on June 6. This house is the residence of Mrs. M. M. Rapp.

Defendant pleaded "not guilty." Det-Sergt. Pilkington stated that two coolies returned to the house at that time and found the defendant sleeping behind some flower pots. Some of these flower pots had previously been missing. After the evidence of the coolies and the constable who effected the arrest, the defendant was bound over.

BANISHEES

Two returned banished appeared before Mr. S. F. Balfour at the Central Court on Saturday and were sentenced to terms of imprisonment.

Tung Pan, 37, unemployed, who was banished for 10 years on March 4 this year was sentenced to 9 months.

Kwong Ning who was banished for 10 years on April 2 this year was sentenced to one year.

WITH INTENT TO ROB

Shek Shun Kwok, 27, unemployed, of No. 24 Tsung San Lane West, ground floor appeared before Mr. Q. A. Macfadyen at the Kowloon Magistracy on Saturday charged with assault with intent to rob a concubine named Yu Shui Ching, at No. 59 Yen Chan Street, second floor on May 22. The case was remanded for 72 hours on the application of the police.

ANOTHER REMAND

Two fishermen and a seaman charged with implication in a piracy of a junk in British Waters just outside Lyemun Pass, were remanded for a week when they appeared before Mr. E. Himsworth at the Kowloon Magistracy on Saturday.

It will be recalled that a quantity of kerosene and matches amongst other articles were stolen. The men were arrested in Shaikwan the next day on being recognised by the master of the robbed vessel.

WATCH REPAIRER'S LAPSE

Hui Wal-man, 27, a watch repairer, was charged before Mr. W. Schofield at the Central Court yesterday with the larceny by person of 7 wrist watches valued at $105. These watches had been given to his master Lai Chui-kong to repair and had been pawned.

Det-Sergt. Downman said that the defendant had been given these watches by his master to repair and had pawned them. This he admitted to his master when he was asked. He was given a wage of $15 a month with food and lodging. In pawning these watches he had given a wrong name each time.

Defendant was remanded for three days in order to raise $31.50 the amount for which he had pawned the watches.

OPIMUM POSSESSION

Five women were charged before Mr. S. F. Balfour at the Central Court yesterday with the possession of various quantities of prepared opium. The defendants were Wong Kam, 34, married woman (40 taels), Yip Sam, 53, widow (40 taels), Lau Lan, 31, widow (50 taels), Yeung Sze, 37, married woman (30 taels), and Ng Sam, 32, widow (40 taels).

Mr. C. A. Sutherland-Russ appeared for all the defendants. R. O. Grinnitt was for the prosecution. The case was remanded until Wednesday, bail being allowed in $150 each.

BODILY HARM

Lai Lam-chi, 17, a painter was charged before Mr. S. F. Balfour at the Central Court yesterday with assault causing bodily harm to Ip Pak-sun.

Defendant said that he defended himself when he was chased by the complainant who had a pair of scissors.

Det-Sergt. Pilkington stated that the complainant was in hospital, and was suffering from a stab wound in the left breast, caused apparently by a nail.

The case was remanded for 48 hours.

blem of capital reorganisation, and to the co-operation and industry of the staff in clearing stocks I feel the company is in a stronger and sounder position than it has enjoyed for many years. In the process of reorganisation, shareholders agreed to sacrifice the sum of $1 per share and I feel satisfied that this sacrifice will, in due time, bear its reward.

From a scrutiny of the accounts, I note that capital expenditure has been exceptionally heavy. I was inclined to criticise this expenditure.

ATTRACTIVE CAFE

Yesterday, however, I took the opportunity of inspecting the many improvements which have been effected throughout the store, in the cafe, and also on the first floor of our building. For the alterations and improvements which have been carried out, I can express nothing but approval and admiration. The cafe is most attractive and well-organised, and its kitchen up-to-date and above reproach.

The general store is conveniently arranged and, I believe, going to be further improved; the ladies' salon, and furnishing department on the mezzanine floor offer every facility for shopping under conditions unrivalled by any store East of Suez, and the beauty parlour and rest room on the first floor, if I may venture to express an opinion, are a sheer delight.

I wish to congratulate the chairman and directors on the thought and enterprise which they have applied in remodelling this old established business on modern lines.

Our manager, Mr. A. W. Brown, I understand, goes on leave in a few weeks' time—a leave which has been delayed over a year owing to the reorganisation, and on behalf of the shareholders I desire to express appreciation of his hard work, and wish him a good holiday so that he returns to us in the best of health.

I have much pleasure in seconding the proposal.

The adoption of the report and accounts was agreed to unanimously.

DIRECTOR RE-ELECTED

Mr. P. H. Kwok and Mr. E. O. Murphy proposed and seconded the re-election of Mr. J. H. Taggart to the Board of Directors. This was agreed to unanimously.

Messrs. Lowe, Bingham and Matthews were re-appointed auditors on the proposal of Mr. F. C. Barry, seconded by Mr. W. L. McKenzie.

Those present were Messrs. J. H. Taggart (chairman), R. A. Dastur, D. C. Edmondston, E. M. Raymond, P. H. Suckling, and S. T. Williamson (directors); A. W. Brown (manager); A. Sommerfeldt (representing the secretaries) and W. L. Dowbiggin, H. W. R. Forsyth and O. F. Ribello Jun. (shareholders).

PUNTERS' DAY AT THE RACES

Two Major Upsets With Handsome Dividends

VIOLET QUEEN PAYS $169.40

A touch of real summer weather favoured the postponed second day's races of the Sixth Extra Race Meeting of the Hong Kong Jockey Club which was held on Saturday, and which incidentally brought the first half-programme to a close.

Punters had a rather successful day in which two dividends paid over $100. Violet Queen in the Manly Handicap paid its 63 backers $169.40 each for a win while Rugby Star's win in the Smugglers Handicap was responsible for the handsome dividend of $105.80. These two were the major upsets of the day, the other results coming off very much as expected.

Cash Sweep Dividends were far better than the first day's figures due no doubt to the better attendance on Saturday. The Lantao Sweep attracted great excitement, the first prize which was won by ticket No. 6103 yielded $25,897.76, second prize was won by ticket No. 10751 yielded $7,399.36 and third prize was won by ticket No. 22479 with $3,699.68 as its reward. The Daily Double was successfully backed by 207 punters who were each rewarded with $24.90.

Several close and exciting finishes were witnessed in the course of the day's sports, with riding honours very evenly divided. The Champion Jockey, Mr. H. C. Pih, although riding in every race was unable to obtain a single win although he bagged three seconds and two thirds.

The most successful jockey of the day was Mr. D. Black who obtained two first and two thirds with Messrs. N. Deltz and S. C. Liang claiming two firsts and a third each. Others who obtained firsts were: Messrs. Ip Kui Ying a first, a second and two thirds, P. P. Botelho with a first, a second and a third, B. A. Proulx with a first and a second and W. H. S. Davis with a first. Notable absentees among the jockeys were Messrs. G. U. da Rosa and I. C. Harris.

BEAUFORT HANDICAP

The weather was hot and dry as attendance was slowly drifting in. The track looked green and in a fit condition, conducive to fast going. Only six ponies accepted. Dawn Star was heavily backed in this race. Amberley was in front from the start followed by Dawn Star, Boolat Bay and Donovan. Dawn Star took over the lead near the Navy Club House and from then on the pony never looked back. Amberley and Boolat Bay alternated for the next two positions. On the stretch Boolat Bay and Royal Highness came up but were unable to stay the pace. Dawn Star winning by three lengths from Boolat Bay, while Royal Highness was another length and a half behind.

LAMA HANDICAP "D" CLASS
A small field entered for the second race, only five entries accepted. Mr. Black was unsaddled by Tyne just before the start. Gold Coin took the lead with Copper Idol, Zero and Tyne in the rear. Gradually Tyne advanced and when the home stretch was reached forged ahead to pass Gold Coin easily, winning by a length and a half. Night View was third.

BONDI HANDICAP "A" CLASS
Derby Day set a fast pace hotly pursued by Double Finesse with Saucy Face and Australian Boy in the rear, while Lancashire Lad was left struggling behind. The positions were very much the same near the half mile post, and when the Rock was passed the ponies were closer together with Saucy Face and Australian Boy coming up and displacing Double Finesse. On the home stretch Saucy Face and Australian Boy overhauled Derby Day and soon Australian Boy was getting away from Saucy Face to win easily, while Derby Day took third place.

WHITSUN PLATE
This race was between Diana Bay, and Soldier of Britain right from the start although King's Justice and Oak Bay took the leadership in turn. Cyclamen Bay was in the third position. It was at the last quarter that the race was decided. Mr. Black on Diana Bay cleverly piloted his mount round the bend on to the stretch and although Mr. Pih tried his best to keep up the pace with the favourite he was unable to do so. Cyclamen Bay was third.

PINEAPPLE HANDICAP
The first leg of the Daily Double attracted eight entries. Rose Evelyn won this race but not without opposition. She led right from the start with Celebration Time a close second. Wild Cat was lagging behind all along with Gold Sovereign slightly ahead. It was on the home stretch that Wild Cat came forward, but the belated effort was too much and Rose Evelyn won by a length and a half. The same distance separated Wild Cat from Gold Sovereign.

MANLY HANDICAP "B" CLASS
The first upset of the day was provided by S. C. Liang on Violet Queen when he ably piloted his mount home ahead of the favourite Centre Court by a length and a half. Fast time was recorded—being only one second behind the record. Honey who led at the start was unplaced so was Halcyon who was left behind at the start. It was on the home stretch that Violet Queen shot out beautifully to clinch the decision from Centre Court while the struggle between Night Star and Halcyon ended in the last named pony being nosed out. The winning pony paid $169.40 to its 63 backers.

GREEN ISLAND HANDICAP "C" CLASS
Ribble romped home an easy winner in the second leg of the Daily Double in which six entries accepted. New Star alternated with Ribble for the leading position. Pontiac Bay was a close third all along until the last quarter when the pony ran out to challenge Ribble but to no avail. Bistre coming in for the third place.

SMUGGLERS HANDICAP "E" CLASS
Mr. Black was unsaddled for the second time during the day when Gold Picker unsaddled him. Another surprise was created when Rugby Star came in two lengths ahead of Cassius after remaining at the rear. Heriot was leading at the start with Gold Picker and Old Star coming next in order. Cassius was somewhat hindered when the bunch of ponies had his way jammed and although on the stretch Mr. Proulx tried his best, Mr. Deltz was able to maintain the lead right up to the end. Old Star the favourite was third.

GREEN ISLAND HANDICAP
Victoria Hall led from the start and when near the Football Stand suddenly dropped to the rear with Ythan coming up to the first place. Don was second by then and on the home stretch Monoplane shut out to take the lead with Ythan a close second. Victoria Hall had by now regained part of the deficit but was unable to catch up with Ythan. Victoria Hall had 1151 backers for a win.

LANTAO HANDICAP "D" CLASS
The last race on which the big $1 sweep was based, attracted 11 starters with great interest shown by the public. West Parade led with Sylvandale soon overhauling the first pony. Double Chance was second and on the stretch Sylvandale went ahead to win with Double Chance second and Philanderer third.

CONTROL OF PARKS AND BEACHES

New Bill Contains Regulations

SURFBOARD BAN

The draft of an ordinance to regulate pleasure grounds, bathing places and places of public resort, is published in the Government Gazette, issued on Saturday.

The ordinance substitutes new provisions for the Public Places Regulation Ordinance, No. 2 of 1870 and the Chinese Recreation Ground Ordinance, No. 17 of 1923, which it repeals, and in addition confers on the Governor in Council power to make regulations for bathing places, which the constantly-increasing demand for bathing facilities has made it necessary to control.

Custodians of pleasure ground are empowered under the ordinance to remove offenders or arrest them. Offenders are liable to a fine of $100 or imprisonment for a month.

Offenders who resist, assault or use abusive language towards custodians are liable to a fine of $100 or imprisonment for three months.

Under the regulations governing the Cenotaph, the public is prohibited from crossing the grass, sitting on the steps or the kerb or loitering.

Regulations for bathing beaches make it an offence to use a surfboard within 100 yards of the shore.

HAPPY VALLEY THEFTS RECALLED

CAT BURGLAR GAOLED

Five charges were preferred against Lo Wai, unemployed, at the Central Court on Saturday when he appeared before Mr. W. Schofield.

The charges were (a) that on May 15 he did break and enter No. 15, King Kwong Street, first floor, and steal therefrom the sum of $21.50 and four pieces of jewellery, the property of Lo Kwok, a student residing at the above address, (b) that he did receive at Wanchai on June 2 one gold and diamond ring the property of Lo Kwok, (c) that on May 5 he did enter No. 12, Yick Yam Street and steal $310, one gold sovereign and sundry pieces of jewellery the property of Chung Sau-lam, a nurse, (d) receiving the same and (e) that on June 1 he did break and enter No. 22, Yick Yam Street, first floor and steal $34, two gold wrist watches and some jewellery, the property of Kwong Wai-fong a married woman.

Inspector Carey said that he would like to withdraw the receiving charges.

The defendant was arrested on May 2 in a sly brothel in Swatow Lane and on him when searched was found various articles of jewellery. One gold finger ring set with a diamond, a watch, three bunches of keys, a single key and a pocket knife.

Enquiries were made and the finger ring was found to be a stolen one. He gained entrance to the floor by forcing the bars of the door and inserting his arm lifted the bars. He entered and stole the money and jewellery valued at $101.50. The only article recovered was the finger ring and the rest valued at $81.50 was not recovered.

In the second case he climbed on to the roof and let himself down on to the verandah, undid the grill with his keys and then broke off the padlock. He stole jewellery and cash amounting to $40.00 of which only $54 had been recovered.

In the first charge all the property had been recovered except the cash. Defendant took the Police to No. 15, Wusung Street where all the jewellery was found.

He told the Police that he worked between 3 and 5 in the mornings and after a burglary takes the first train to Canton. None of the loot is passed in Hong Kong.

Defendant had a long record of seven previous convictions and though under Police supervision had not reported to them for the three years.

The $11 found on the defendant was ordered to be given to the second complainant as she had lost the most articles. Defendant was sentenced to four months on each charge consecutively, and ordered two years' Police supervision.

MOULDS FOR COUNTERFEITING

CASE FOR SESSIONS

"I did not wish to make counterfeit coins, but I was forced through circumstances to do it," said Ho Wah in answer to a charge of possession of moulds for counterfeiting ten and one cent pieces at the Kowloon Magistracy on Saturday. Tsang Kwan, 31 years of age, unemployed, also charged for the same offence, pleaded innocence and said that at the time of his arrest, he was visiting the first accused in an endeavour to obtain repayment of a loan.

Evidence was given by the prosecution of a raid when the two men were found at No 21 Main Street, Kowloon City standing by a furnace, in which one of the moulds was found.

A statement made by the second, accused to Inspector R. R. Chester Wood at the station was read by Tsang, in evidence on Saturday. It alleged he claimed knowledge that Ho had stated he was engaged in counterfeiting coins, this knowledge being imparted some two months before the arrest. Tsang said that he was forced to make this statement by Ho. If he (Tsang) did not wish to be assaulted by the police.

Tsang made it clear however that he was not assaulted by the Police.
Mr. E. Himsforth committed both to stand their trials at the next sessions.

THE FLEET AIR ARM

In the defence debate the question of the Fleet Air Arm will probably be raised. Mr. Churchill has come out as an advocate of "handing over to the navy," as he put it, control of its own aeroplanes, and the Government has given a vague hint that the matter may be considered; Sir Thomas Inskip presumably, as the new "co-ordinating Minister," will be mainly in charge of this task. The present position is certainly curious and in many ways anomalous. Our present Royal Air Force, as an independent service, was formed during the war from the amalgamation of one naval wing and one military, the Naval Air Service and the Royal Flying Corps. The advantages of a single command, long as many in the two older services fought against it, are not now questioned. But it was early realised that aircraft serving entirely with the fleet and assigned to purely naval duties—scouting, action against hostile ships, and the like—ought to be under naval control. On the other hand, the needs of the navy in flying personnel and machines were at that time so small that it would plainly have been wasteful to set up separate training schools, aircraft ordering departments and so on. After long negotiation the Air Ministry and the Admiralty came to a working agreement in 1924 which in the main governs the organisation of the Fleet Air Arm to-day. Under it, the Arm is an extraordinarily composite body. The personnel is drawn from the navy, the Air Force, and the Marines. While on board ship—battleship, cruiser, or aircraft-carrier—officers and men are controlled by the naval authorities for all active duties. Those who are naval or marine officers temporarily hold commissions in the Royal Air Force; promotion is in the hands partly of the Air Force and partly of the Admiralty. Their pay and keep and the cost of the machines are largely met out of naval funds. But technical services and training establishments are provided almost wholly by the Air Ministry.

This arrangement is obviously highly complex, but until a year or so ago there was no great demand for a change. The Admiralty, however, has never been entirely happy about it. With an increased appreciation of the value of aircraft to a fleet with the increased fear also of the damages other countries' aircraft might do to a fleet, our naval high command has rapidly become deeply concerned over its naval air strength; this anxiety is reflected in the expansion programme, which calls for a total strength in the Fleet Air Arm of 217 first-line machines by the end of this year, together with "substantial increases" in later years. As an accompaniment the demand for exclusive naval control of naval air power has also revived. It is pointed out that the navy does not possess a single flying-boat it can call its own. Most of our existing flying-boats do not even belong to the Fleet Air Arm (as Mr. Churchill seems to think); they are owned and controlled entirely by the Air Force. And various admirals and other naval pundits have argued strenuously that shipborne aircraft could be much more efficiently managed if they were manned and handled exclusively by the fleet. The proposal seems reasonable enough at first glance. But the air critics would have us remember the dan-

LAMMA ISLAND MURDER

Fisherman Attacked With Bamboo Poles

A murder was committed over the week-end on Lamma Island, the bare details of which, as reported by the Police, are the only facts that are known about the crime at present. The Investigating Police officers are on the scene of the murder.

Chau Ku, aged thirty seven, is the name of the murdered man. He was a fisherman of Yung Shu Ha village and was found dead yesterday afternoon about 4.30. The reason for his murder is, until further facts are unveiled, unknown. The deceased was alleged to have been attacked by a number of men of whom the only one named was Cheung Wun Tsai. These men escaped in the direction of Stanley, presumably in a sampan.

Bamboo poles and sticks were reported to have been used in the dastardly crime.

RAILWAY PIER FRACAS

As the result of a fight at the Railway Pier in Kowloon, Wong Kam-hung, a street coolie aged 35 years, living at No. 92, Shanghai Street, was admitted to the Kowloon Hospital yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock suffering from severe head injuries.

His condition is said to be serious and in connection with the fight two men have been detained by the Police.

FOORD'S BOXING VICTORY

George Cook Knocked Out

Cardiff, June 6.

The South African boxer Foord knocked out George Cook in the ninth round of a twelve-round bout.

It may be little use nowadays recalling the historical blunders in the naval jealousy of aviation; the notorious Admiralty opposition, for example, to the use of torpedo-carrying planes with the fleet, the way, again, in which the first aircraft-carrier with the fleet was strangely left behind when the Germans put out from Kiel. It is enough that the critics are still not wholly convinced of the genuineness of the navy's conversion to a belief in air power, not entirely certain that naval aviation would automatically flourish if left to the Admiralty's own devices.

The ancient arguments against duplication and overlapping certainly still hold good. So far as concerns the separate manufacture and supply of aircraft and stores we notice that a writer in this year's "Brassey's Annual" (a work not generally favourable to the present organisation of the Air Arm) thinks that any return to a system "which under stress of war revealed so many weaknesses" would be "retrogressive." On the other hand, whether the Arm, now manned as to about 70 per cent. by naval personnel, could, or should not be wholly so manned is a question less easily answered; there are good arguments either way. But a clearer demarcation of functions between the navy, the Fleet Air Arm, and the Air Force itself is undoubtedly wanted. Is the protection of coastal shipping (which may include the vital foodships approaching our shores in time of war) the concern mainly of the Air Force or of the Admiralty? The two services may give very different answers, the one hinting that its primacy is already implicitly recognised by the Air Force's possession of coastal squadrons, part of whose duty is to patrol the narrow seas, the other suggesting that these squadrons would be of little avail without the co-operation of naval craft. Are flying-boats coastal craft and therefore rightly assigned to the Air Force, or are they chiefly open sea patrol boats which might usefully serve the fleet as an adjunct to cruisers or instead of cruisers? Is there any reason why the Admiralty should not own and operate its own flying-boats if it wants to? Might it not quite well have done so any time in the last dozen years if it had really wanted to? Broadest question of all, have the true spheres of air and naval action been accurately thought out, if not, should such an examination be at once begun? These are all questions to which an answer from the new Co-ordination Minister would be welcome.

THE KING WITH HIS OLD BATTALION

INSPECTION OF GRENADEIER GUARDS

London, May 22.

The King inspected the 1st Battalion, Grenadier Guards at Wellington Barracks yesterday. He had previously inspected the 2nd Battalion in March before their departure for Egypt and the 3rd Battalion in April on their return from Egypt. His Majesty, as Prince of Wales, joined the 1st Battalion in 1914. The Duke of Connaught, Colonel of the regiment, who is 86 years old, braved the cold wind of a showery morning to receive the King and accompany him during the inspection. Both wore the dark blue undress uniform of the regiment.

The battalion was drawn up in line when His Majesty arrived at 11 o'clock and gave the Royal salute. The men on parade wore guard order, but bearskins were replaced by forage caps. On the right of the line was the King's Company, about 120 strong, with their Colour which is only carried on ceremonial duties, and when the King is present in person it is lowered only to the King or to the Queen or Queen Mother. Every man in the King's Company has a height of 5ft. 2in. or over.

During the inspection the King and the Duke of Connaught had with them Lieutenant-Colonel A. F. R. Wiggins, in command of the battalion, and Major-General B. N. Sergison-Brooke, General Officer Commanding the London District and Major-General Commanding Brigade of Guards.

After walking slowly along the line the King also inspected the band and then took up a position at the saluting base while the battalion marched past in column of fours. The sun escaped from overhead clouds about this time and the men in their scarlet tunics, with bayonets gleaming, provided a brilliant spectacle as they moved in perfect rhythm across the barrack square. There was a large crowd to appreciate the scene. Invited guests had seats within the rails, but there was also a considerable gathering of the public in Birdcage Walk. It was noticed that the Duke of Connaught at this stage had put on a grey cloak over his uniform as a protection from the wind.

After the march-past the King made a short round of the sergeants' mess, the cook-house, dining room, rest room, library, and the men's quarters, and before leaving he inspected a parade of members of the Comrades' Association, many of whom had served with him in the regiment in the War years.

PLAYING FIELD MEMORIALS TO KING GEORGE

NATION-WIDE CHAIN

London, May 16.

Playing fields throughout the country will be national memorials to King George V.

This was decided yesterday by the general committee of the King George National Memorial fund presided over by the Archbishop of Canterbury.

An appeal will shortly be made to the nation and Empire for support for the scheme. Each playing field will have a King George V. gateway.

A statue is also to be erected on the Abingdon-street site.

UNANIMOUS DECISION
Lord Macmillan, chairman of the executive committee, who presented the report, recalled that last March it was decided that the memorial to his late Majesty should take the form of a statue in London on some noble site, and a philanthropic scheme of a specific character which would benefit the whole country and be associated with his name.

"I am in the happy position of being able to report that we have arrived at unanimous conclusions as to the nature of both forms of memorial."

"The philanthropic scheme, for which the Lord Mayor proposes to appeal to the whole of the country, is a scheme for King George National Playing Fields."

"Of the many attractive proposals before us, it appeared to us that on the whole that was the one which most likely appealed most largely to the people of this country."

If Gossip We Must

(BY "DAWN")

The last of the race meetings of the season was held on Saturday but was not attended by a record crowd, chiefly I think on account of the heat. Most of the really sensible people I feel sure were bathing, lazing or sailing or trying to keep cool.

It was unbelievably hot there and nobody knew what to do with themselves to keep cool. I am sure that there were many more people there than I saw, but they just stayed in "the various boxes" trying to keep cool.

Mrs. Seth Smith, in pale pink, I saw braving the sun and walking about, Mrs. Begg was another person who seemed to be running about most energetically the whole afternoon and was attired in a dress with the sailor suit effect.

Mrs. Arbuthnot, a new arrival in Hong Kong, was there with her husband, looking most attractive in a smartly tailored linen suit with a large hat to match. She seemed to be one of the few people who managed to look really cool during the afternoon.

Mrs. Bell in white and green and Mrs. Stocker in white and blue both seemed to be extra keen on the racing.

Mrs. Ashton is another person who studies it keenly. Mrs. Beck, very hot but nevertheless very lively, was in a picture dress of brown taffeta with a small white lace collar and large brown hat. Navy and white was worn by Mrs. Sheldon who looked smart.

There was a large number of Chinese and some most attractive and well dressed Chinese women.

It is the men I feel sorry for in this hot weather, as never mind how hot the weather may be they have still to dress in the usual manner, whereas the ladies more or less just please themselves (up to a certain point of course) by wearing less and less as each day grows hotter.

A most unusual and enjoyable party was given during the week by Miss Pat Dimond in the Peninsula Hotel. It started by cocktails at the usual time but many people stayed on for sausages and mash and the party seemed to break up at a very late hour.

Pat Dimond herself looked very sweet in deep rose organdie with a thin gold thread running through. Her brother was there also helping her to entertain everybody—not that she needs much help!

Mrs. Grossman in pale pink arrived from Hong Kong. Mr. and Mrs. Hall were there and Col. Marsh also, but for a short time only. Next week's bridegroom came for a short time. Squadron Leader Anderson, must also be congratulated on his promotion which he received a few days ago. His best man was also with him. Squadron Leader Dalzell.

Wing Commander and Mrs. Bishop arrived later, the latter looking so cool and fresh in spotted organdie. Mrs. Norman was another who favoured organdie with large designs worked on the skirt which were most attractive.

The Plovanielli were also there. Madame Plovanielli, her usual smart and charming self.

There were many more people which I cannot tell you about as I have neither time nor space but it was a grand party and they certainly know how to make you feel at home.

There was a caviare table in one corner which I may tell you was much in demand, and later in the evening one member of the party was lucky enough to have his fortune told by a well-known resident here so it was by no means a dull party and we had a little of everything.

NO IMPROVEMENT IN STRIKE SITUATION

French Miners To Join Movement

DEPUTIES CONFER WITH LABOUR HEAD

Employers And Workers Meet Premier

Paris, June 6. Despite the reforms promised by M. Leon Blum, the strike situation has so far not improved and the strike is extending in directions previously untouched. The printing works, upholsterers clothing trade and bill-posting are now affected and the white collar workers are showing signs of unrest in big insurance companies. The steel workers at Maubeuge and the spinners at Hazebrouck and 20,000 workers at Douai have joined the strike.

When the employers of seven companies at Armentieres declared a lockout, workers climbed the walls and occupied the works. The strikers in Northern France are estimated at 200,000. Express trains are leaving Calais and Marseilles without sleeping and restaurant cars.

A most serious development in this evening is the decision of the miners in Nord-Pas de Calais and Anzin districts to strike on Monday.

Parisians will find difficulty in amusing themselves on Sunday. Excursions to the country will be impossible due to lack of petrol, while many sporting events are cancelled.

Some hope of settlement, however, has been aroused in a conference at Jouxhaux between the Secretary General of the Labour Federation and a number of Popular Front deputies.

SETTLEMENT HOPES

Paris, June 7. Hopes of an early settlement of the strike have been revived in consequence of M. Leon Blum's statement of policy and the Chamber vote of confidence.

It is stated that a number of Popular Front deputies conferred with the Secretary General of the Federation of Labour who thereafter informed the Government that the strikers will return to work to-morrow.

MEETING WITH PREMIER

Paris, June 7. Representatives of the employers and workers are meeting in M. Leon Blum's office this afternoon to discuss the return to work.

SIGNS OF ABATEMENT

Paris, June 6. Saturday evening saw some signs of abatement in the strike movement of the Paris metal industry.

The negotiations between employers and workers in the Renault automobile factory was said to have made such progress that now only one point remains to be settled, namely the number of working hours on full pay to be granted to the workers as an annual holiday. The employers are willing to give 72, but the workers are holding out for their original demand for 96 hours, corresponding to two weeks. Hopes are nevertheless entertained that work can be resumed on Monday.

The strike still appears to be spreading in Northern France, however, particularly outside the metal industry.

According to the latest news from Lille, the workers on the barges in this district have gone on strike and have anchored the barges right across the canals and rivers, thus effectively blocking all traffic.

Undertakers on strike. A number of burials in Versailles had to be performed by the City Police on Saturday owing to the strike movement having spread to the undertakers employees.

Further inconvenience to the public was caused by the continuation of the strike in the Paris department stores where sales people spent Friday night dancing and playing cards. Whether they will spend the week-end in their new quarters is still uncertain since the department stores association issued a statement on Saturday saying that they would break off all negotiations if the employees did not evacuate the premises.

The general situation remains more or less unchanged, the return to work in some districts being offset by increase in the number of strikers elsewhere. In the colliery district of Douai, 350 miners were on strike on Thursday, and by Saturday this number had swelled to 20,000.

PAPER IN TROUBLE. Paris, June 7. The Ministry of Justice has instituted proceedings against the Royalist paper "Action Francaise" on a charge of disseminating false news. The paper had asserted that the strike movement was spreading to public transport.

UPROAR IN THE CHAMBER

Shouts Of "Chiappe To The Gallows"

DEPUTY TAUNTS PREMIER

Paris, June 6. Angry scenes marked the sitting of the Chamber. When the name of M. Chiappe, former Prefect of Police, was mentioned, M. Chiappe jumped to his feet and the deputies began shouting "Chiappe to the gallows." There was such confusion that M. Herriot suspended the sitting.

The resumption was followed by a further uproar when the deputy of the Right Wing, Vallat, declared that "It is a historic occasion for France, to be governed for the first time by a Jew."

M. Leon Blum began to leave the Chamber, but he was eventually persuaded to remain and was nearly cheered.

FOREIGN POLICY AIM. Paris, June 6. The Premier, M. Blum, stated in the Chamber that France's foreign policy aim was peace with respect for international contracts and fidelity to engagements, also adherence to collective security and reduction of armaments.

The Government will insist on adopting the principle of the foregoing measures before the summer recess and measures will be subsequently promulgated by decree with details worked out.

M. Blum is assured of a large majority in view of the Radicals' unanimous decision to support the programme in the morning.

CURRENCY MANIPULATION. Paris, June 6. M. Leon Blum declared in the Chamber that the Government does not intend to cover expenditure by currency manipulation.

PRESS SUPPORT. Paris, June 6. The newspapers again appeared this morning and, with the exception of the Rightist "Echo de Paris," approve of M. Leon Blum's step to deal with the strikes. Commentators are satisfied that M. Blum will have little difficulty in speedily passing the emergency decrees through the Chamber.

The "Matin" states that when the strike situation is settled M. Vincent Auriol will ask for a revision of the statutes of the Bank of France and will also propose legislation whereby Deputies may not practice any other profession while they are Deputies.

CHAMBER CONFIDENCE. Paris, June 6. The Chamber of Deputies has passed a vote of confidence in the Blum Cabinet by 384 votes to 210.

FOG AGAIN DELAYS QUEEN MARY

Australian Tennis Stars On Board

London, June 6. The liner Queen Mary on her homeward voyage from New York again experienced fog and her speed had to be reduced. In the first twenty-two hours only 621 miles had been covered at an average of 28½ knots.

FAR EASTERN SITUATION

South China Move To Force War

LONDON OPINION

London, June 7. The movement in Southern China to force war with Japan may peter out as many Chinese movements do, but otherwise it may alter history, says the "Sunday Times."

The danger lies less in what the Chinese do than to the extent to which they provoke the Japanese who might take military action in the North on such a scale as would lead Russia to intervene.

Any Russo-Japanese conflict, continues the paper, might have a very disturbing effect on Europe which is once more sitting on a powder magazine and quite as likely to be exploded next time from the Far East as it was last time from the Near East.

"GUARDIAN" VIEWS

London, June 6. The papers feature Canton's anti-Japanese upheaval with varying degrees of sensationalism, but the best-informed appear to regard it rather as a case of internal political manoeuvring vis-a-vis Nanking than directly against Japan.

The "Manchester Guardian" points out that the South-west Political Council is not officially recognised as a State or even as an independent Government and could not therefore declare war on its own accord; but it is clear that Canton is putting extreme pressure on Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek. But it is too early to form any clear understanding of the situation, which may, after all, dissolve in typical negotiations and delicate compromise.

Well-informed observers, interviewed by Reuter, drew attention to the apparent Japanese quiescence in North China since the railway bomb incident, and express the opinion that if no further incident occurs General Chiang Kai-shek may succeed in compounding the differences with Canton, paving the way for a settlement with Japan, as foreshadowed in General Chang Chun's speech in May 25.

KWANGSI TROOP GATHERING

Grave View Taken In The North

Hankow, June 7. A telegram from Changsha confirms the concentration of Kwangsi troops at the border. The situation is considered grave.

CAPTURE DENIED

Hankow, June 7. The reported capture of Hengchow in Hunan by Kwangsi troops is officially denied.

OFFICIAL VIEW

Nanking, June 6. Official circles do not believe that Canton means business, but if the Southerners should invade Hunan and Kiangsi, Nanking would regard this as an unfriendly move against itself rather than against the Japanese troops in order to oppose them. Despite Canton's pressure Nanking is not likely to change its policy of moderation towards Japan, which is still deemed the wisest and only possible course.

This would mean the resuscitation of the former coalition government, but this time under the Socialists instead of Catholic leadership.

SAME AS LAST

Brussels, June 6. The Government which M. Vandervelde has agreed to form will be a coalition of the same kind as the previous Government but under the leadership of the Socialist Party who hold a majority in Parliament.

TRIBUTE PAID BY PRESS

Sir Samuel Hoare's Services

London, June 6. The announcement of Lord Monell's resignation and of Sir Samuel Hoare's appointment to succeed him as First Lord of the Admiralty was generally expected by the newspapers.

Another ministerial vacancy which has still to be filled is that of First Commissioner of Works rendered vacant through the appointment of Mr. Ormsby Gore as Colonial Secretary in succession to Mr. J. H. Thomas.

Sir Samuel Hoare was in ill-health when he resigned the Foreign Secretaryship in December but is now fully recovered.

Newspapers recall Sir Samuel Hoare's large-minded and courageous handling of the Indian question when, as Secretary of State for India, he was in charge of the Government of India Act which was the principal feature of the Parliamentary programme of 1934.

Sir Samuel Hoare takes up his duties at the Admiralty with many years experience gained as Air Minister in the Unionist Administrations prior to 1929.

INVASION BY JAPANESE

KALGAN REPORTS

Shanghai, June 7. A further Japanese invasion in Chahar and Suiyuan is believed to be imminent, according to information from Kalgan.

One report states that Prince Teh, the powerful Mongolian leader, is being kept under surveillance by the Japanese and that they are planning to use him as a "puppet."

The Japanese troops in Chahar, it is also reported, are planning to seize five districts in East Suiyuan.

A Mongolian Military Headquarters will be established at Silingkolo in the near future, it is expected, with Prince Teh as the Commander-in-Chief and General Li Shou-hsin, the "Manchoukuo" General, as one of the leaders.

Two representatives of the Kwantung Army are extremely active at Pailingmiao, the political centre of Inner Mongolia, and at Fengkiang, the stronghold of Prince Teh, north of Pailingmiao.

ITALIAN THREAT TO BRITAIN

Sensational Revelations In Dutch Paper

MUSSOLINI TO APPEAL FOR FREE HAND

RETALIATION FOR SANCTIONS

Amsterdam, June 6. Sensational revelations are made by the Rome correspondent of the Dutch paper "Algemeen Handelsblad," who claims authority for stating that in the event of the League of Nations not raising the sanction impositions now prevailing, Signor Mussolini would appeal to the Italian nation and let it decide by plebiscite whether it is willing to defend its rights to the last and empower him to go to any lengths if necessary in order to assert these rights in the face of British opposition.

The correspondent claims in this connection that Britain has already been on the verge of war last October 17 when 11 Duce allegedly had informed the French Premier, Laval, that if Britain did not withdraw her warships lying in the port of Alexandria within twenty-four hours he would give the order to attack these ships.

The correspondent adds that the tense atmosphere which prevailed during the next twenty-four hours was finally relieved by the British Ambassador appearing at the Palazzo Venezia at four o'clock in the morning of October 18 and suggesting a solution to the crisis which consisted of the British Government declaring itself willing to withdraw some of the ships from the Mediterranean if Italy would recall part of her troops in Libya.

This solution was, according to the correspondent, finally agreed to by Signor Mussolini and subsequently made known to the world at large.

MUSSOLINI AND SCHUSCHNIGG

"Hong Kong Daily Press" Special

Rome, June 5. The much discussed meeting between Mussolini and the Austrian Chancellor Schuschnigg took place on Friday at the Duce's country seat near Forli. The following communique has been issued:

LUNCED TOGETHER

Rome, June 5. A communique issued to-day states that upon his return from Viareggio, Dr. Kurt Schuschnigg, Austrian Chancellor, visited the Duce at Rocca delle Caminate and engaged in a cordial conversation lasting two hours.

The two statesmen then lunched together, and Dr. Schuschnigg afterwards flew to Venice amidst a thunder-storm.

MEDITERRANEAN NAVAL BASE

Malta Considered Out Of Date

CYPRUS BETTER SITUATED

London, June 7. The projected transfer of Britain's naval base in the Mediterranean from Malta to Cyprus is reported in the Sunday papers, which assert that the question included tentative defence plans already being discussed between the Empire Governments.

It is stated that an influential group comprising Peers, Commons and service officials intends shortly to approach the Government to urge the conviction that Malta is out of date and no longer safeguards the Mediterranean, while Cyprus is better situated to protect the entrance to the Suez Canal, in addition to possessing facilities for all types of aircraft.

It is added that strong support of the proposals is likely to be forthcoming in Parliament.

WIDOW AND SON KILLED

Fatal Burns During Funeral Service

Peiping, June 7. The widow and son of General Li Sheng-ta, a member of the Central Executive Committee and Commander of the Nineteenth Army who was assassinated by a member of his bodyguard on May 30, were fatally burned while attending a service at the temple.

Flames from paper effigy goods and money which were burned by the monks for the use of the deceased in the other world, spread to hundreds of paper wreaths and silk scrolls which developed into a general conflagration.

The widow and son struggled to remove the coffin to safety when they were enveloped by the falling of blazing scrolls.

EMIR ABDULLAH FAILS. Arabs Determined To Continue Strike.

Jerusalem, June 7. The efforts of Emir Abdullah of Transjordan to end the crisis in Palestine have failed and so far the deadlock continues.

CHAMPIONS' CLOSE CALL

"Double" For Recreio

SEVERAL EXCITING BOWLS GAMES

By their surprise win over the K.C.C. Junior, Club de Recreio were able to bring off the double on Saturday in the Lawn Bowls Leagues, and incidentally enhanced their chances in their quest for the two honours.

Results in the other matches came off very much as expected, unexpected resistance was forthcoming by Talkoo in their match against the Senior Champions, and, but for the splendid display given by Luz's four, the Happy Valley Club would have undoubtedly gone under.

Several high scores were returned during the day. W. Mair's Police rink enjoyed an overwhelming success at the expense of A. O. Madar's I.R.C. four winning by 27-7, while C. G. Silva's Recreio rink smarting under their defeat of a week ago, beat R. P. Phillips' K.C.C. four by 32-8.

AMERICAN OPEN GOLF TITLE

Last-Minute Surprise

TONY MANERO WINS

Springfield, N. J., June 8.

Tony Manero won the American Open Golf Championship with scores over the four rounds of 73, 69, 73, 67, total 282, which was a record victory and a last-minute surprise after the record has already been broken by Harry Cooper, who returned a score of 284. The holder, Sam Parks, failed to qualify for the final two rounds.

Manero played astounding golf, his 67 being five strokes below par for the course, and the previous best winning score in the American championship was 286.

Third place went to Clarence Clark with a score of 287; fourth Macdonald Smith 288; fifth tied by K.Y. Lafoon, Willy Cox and Henry Picard with 289; sixth Paul Runyan and Ralph Guladhi 290. Gene Sarazen had a score of 296 and Olin Dutra 300.

EARLIER ROUND

Leaders in the third round were Harry Cooper 71, 70, 70=211, beating the record at this stage of 212 held by Bobby Jones in 1930; Victor Ghezzi 70, 70, 73=213; Denny Shute 72, 69, 73=214; K.Y. Lafoon 71, 74, 70=215; Henry Picard 70, 71, 74=215; Tony Manero 73, 69, 73=215; Clarence Clark 69, 75, 71=215.

By mild ripe tobacco we mean just this—

FIRST—ripened in the sunshine... and picked leaf by leaf from the right part of the stalk when fully ripe.

THEN—each day's picking cured right by the farmer... at the right time and in the right way... no "spotting" or bitterness, but every leaf of good color and flavor.

FINALLY—bought in the open market... re-dried for storage... then packed in wooden hogsheads to age and mellow for two years or more until free from harshness and bitterness.

That's what we mean by mild, ripe tobacco. And that's the kind of tobacco we use to give Chesterfields their milder, better taste.

Hogsheads of leaf tobacco "aging" for two years in storage warehouses.

Picking leaf tobacco in the "bright" tobacco fields of Virginia and the Carolinas.

Type of barn used for "curing" leaf tobacco.

Outstanding for mildness for better taste

PUI CHING SCORES TWO IN A ROW

Wins Over Nippon And Eastern

BASEBALL LEAGUE

Pui Ching scored its third baseball victory during the week-end yesterday when it beat the Nippon Club 15 to 1 at Caroline Hill and then followed with a victory over Eastern.

The Pui Ching pitcher forgot himself in the first innings and allowed the Nippon to come home once, but thereafter the innings were a series of blanks.

Score:—
1 2 3 4 5 6 7
Nippon 1 0 0 0 0 0 = 1
Pui Ching 4 2 0 4 1 4 = 15

A far better game was that between Pui Ching and Eastern. It was a stern tussle with neither team gaining the advantage until the sixth innings when Pui Ching chalked up three.

Prior to this, the scores were level at one all, the run scored in the third innings of each team.

Errors in the fielding cost Eastern the game in the sixth innings. A change was made in the team but, too late, for Pui Ching had already gained an advantage which could not be overcome.

Eastern did not expect to win but, it was nevertheless a great disappointment to lose grip of the game after such a sterling display.

Score:—
1 2 3 4 5 6 7
Eastern 0 0 1 0 0 0 = 1
Pui Ching 0 0 1 0 0 3 = 4

SATURDAY'S GAME
Canadians lost to Pui Ching on Saturday by the odd run in five.

It was a near thing for Pui Ching, for had the Canadian batters done as well as their pitcher, Dreany, and their fielders they would have won and sprung one of the surprises of the league.

The nearest that Pui Ching came to defeat was indicative of the playing form of the Canadian team on Saturday. If this holds out they should finish high in the League.

The game started with Dreany being walked to first. Smedley then smashed a home run to give the Canadians a two run lead.

Pui Ching was blanked in its first innings but in the second, after returning the compliment and blanking the Canadians, it collected three.

Score:—
1 2 3 4 5 6 7
Canadians 2 0 0 0 0 0 = 2
Pui Ching 0 3 0 0 0 0 = 3

SIAM'S TENNIS TOURISTS

K.C.C. Level At Close Of Play

ONE VISITOR SICK

Some spirited tennis was witnessed at the Kowloon Cricket Club courts yesterday afternoon, when the Siamese lawn tennis tourists flashed the day all square with the home team, each side winning two games.

The visitors were greatly weakened by the non-appearance of one of their stars who was unable to take the courts owing to indisposition. A Clark, of the K.C.C. who deputised partnered Prachnab in the final game and lost after a keen contest.

The results in full were as follows:—
Sanoh and Prachnab beat E. C. Fincher and G. Bodiker (K.C.C.)—7-5, 1-6, 6-2.

Muangroeng and Na Ranong beat A. E. P. Guest and F. Grose—6-4, 4-6, 6-2.

Muangroeng and Na Ranong lost to Fincher and Bodiker (K.C.C.)—6-3, 6-4.

As the scores indicate there were some close sets which were featured by keen volleying and smart overhead work. In the latter respect the visitors impressed with their decisive "kills" and were definitely better than the home opposition. Off the ground with driving on both hands the home-sters held their own, and some keen driving duels were witnessed as a result.

Fincher and Bodiker had a great chance to pull off the first set again Sanoh and Prachnab when they led 5-4, but the visitors asserted themselves and clinched the set after a dour struggle at 7-5. Fincher and Bodiker while brilliant at moments, were also responsible for some poor shots and the steadier play of their opponents won the day. Both of the Siamese leading pair (Sanoh and his partner) advanced to the net on the slightest pretext and indulged in volleying that brought them many direct winners.

*Guest and Grose played steadily, but found the forceful methods of the tourists at the net a little more than they could cope with.

After an interval for refreshments, Bodiker and Fincher, reversed the tables against Muangroeng and Na Ranong and won in two straight sets. Many points were thrown away by the visitors by over-hitting the baseline in drives, Prachnab and Clark, put up gallant opposition against Guest and Grose but a lack of combination understandable under the circumstances more than anything else was their undoing.

To-day the visitors will be seen at the Indian Recreation Club, where it is anticipated that they will oppose the erstwhile Colony doubles champions—the Rumjahn cousins. Keen games are indicated and the high standard the tourists have displayed will have another opportunity of displaying itself.

SATURDAY'S GAMES

Colony's Doubles Pair Beaten

Sanoh Vernankwra and Prachnab Puranda, the Siamese doubles champions, defeated the Colony's doubles champions, Tsui Wai-pui and Tsui Yuen-pui, at the C.R.C. on Saturday by the score of 8-6, 4-6 and 8-6. These pairs met in an exhibition game and were not for the errors of Tsui Yuen-pui, the Colony pair might possibly have registered a victory.

The elder Tsui on the other hand was brilliant, flashing across some very fine drives. The visiting champions were strange to the court, at first and took some time to settle down. They lost the second set to better tennis, but they asserted themselves in the last set to win 8-6. Sanoh put across some nice drives with both hands, but here again his partner was somewhat off form and did not give great support.

In the other game, the Siamese second string pair, Muang Reong and Ranong, met and defeated in Tak-cheuk and Luk Ding-cheong by the score of 8-3, 3-6, 8-4.

Reong, though he lost the Siamese singles title to Sanoh, showed better form than did Sanoh. He has a "killing" service, and receiving good support from his partner, outplayed the Chinese pair.

UNRULY HAWKER AND SYMPATHISERS

ARREST SEQUEL

Charges of unnecessary violence were preferred against the Police by Chan Heung, a female hawker who was arrested on Friday for causing an obstruction in Canal Road west.

Ho Kwan, 73, unemployed and Lo Hon-man, 22, a shop foki were also brought before Mr. W. Schofield charged with interfering with P.C.B.773 in the execution of his duty.

P.C.B.773, Babu Singh stated that he arrested the woman at 8.30 a.m. for causing an obstruction and then Ho Kwan came along and tried to get the woman away, at the same time catching hold of his shirt and tearing it. The old man, was also arrested and while on the way to the station in Tin Lok Lane, Lo Hon-man came up and tried to get the old man away. Witness sounded his whistle and another constable came along and arrested him. P.C.B.143 then corroborated the testimony of the previous witness and stated that when he came up Lo Hon-man was fighting.

Ho Kwan said that he saw the constable strike the woman and so he asked him not to do that to a woman. He was then taken into custody.

Lo Hon-man made a similar statement saying that the old man was being struck. He denied holding the constable or that he interfered with him at all. He merely asked the constable not to strike the old man.

In answer to the Magistrate Ho Kwan said that he only asked the constable not to hit the woman.

All defendants denied knowing each other.

Mr. Schofield said that he was inclined to believe the constable in that the men interfered with him, and he would like to point out that it would have been much better had they gone to the station and made their reports there to the officer.

Inspector Logan said that it was not an easy job controlling these hawkers in the markets.

Ho Kwan and Lo Hon-man were each fined $30.

Addressing the female hawker, Mr. Schofield said that she had caused all the trouble by not going to the station quietly when arrested.

She was fined $1 or seven days.

LOCAL TEACHERS MEET

Annual Function

"Teachers' Day" was celebrated on Saturday by the Hong Kong Chinese Teachers' Association at the King's Theatre. There was a large gathering of the members of this profession and they thoroughly appreciated the short but fine programme that was offered. The major item was a play translated from Lord Dunsany.

Teachers' Day, started by the Professors and Teachers in Peking and Tientsin several years ago, has been celebrated by the teachers in Hong Kong for three years in succession and will be made a festival hereafter.

The results of the two matches were:—

Sanoh Vernankwra and Prachnab (Siam) beat Tsui Wai-pui and Tsui Yuen-pui (C.R.C.) 8-6, 4-6, 8-6.

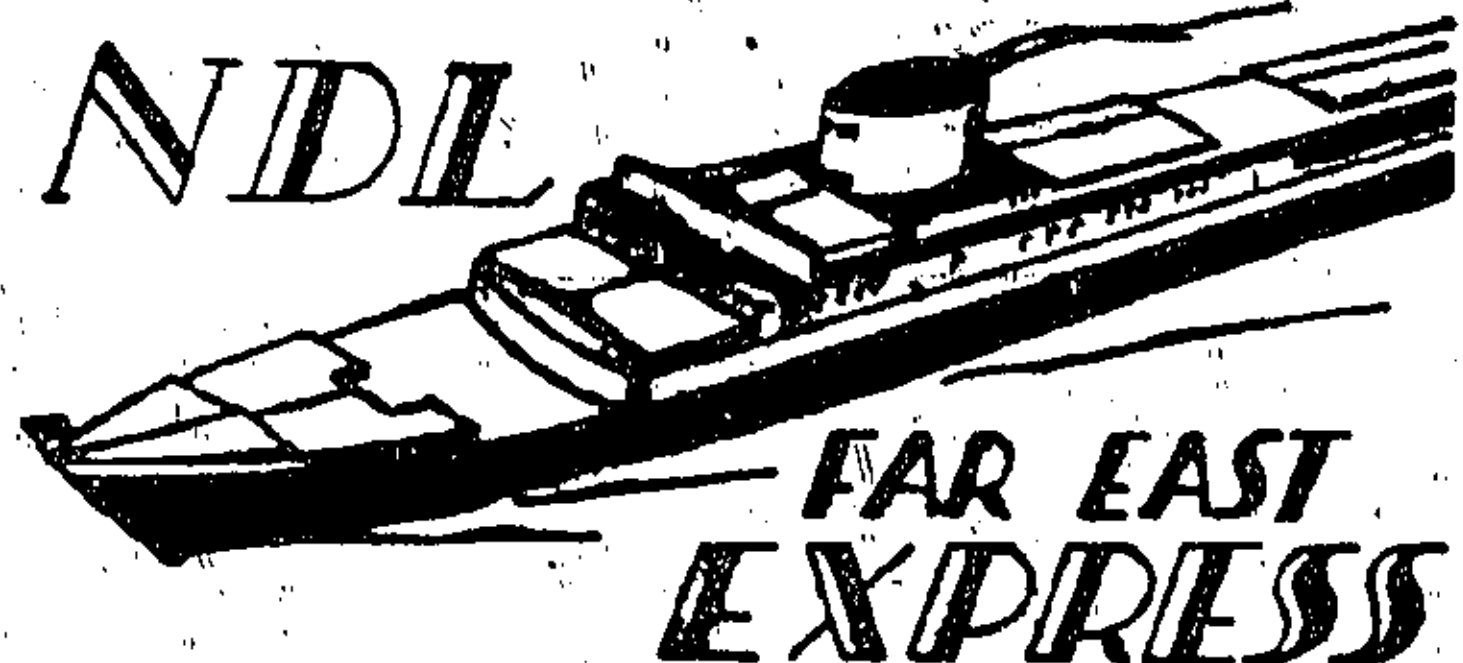

Muang Reong and Ranong (Siam) beat Lu Tak-cheuk and Luk Ding-cheong (C.R.C.) 8-3, 3-6, 8-4.

THE SHARE MARKET

Harriman's Weekly
Review

Saturday, June 6.

Messrs. G.A. Harriman and Co.'s weekly share report and market review issued at noon to-day states—

The market was again mainly active in Philippine mining stocks during the week under review with the market for local shares inclined to be quiet, but towards the close one of our principal market leaders, Hongkong Tramways, made a remarkable recovery from $8.85 to $10.30, which in due course brought out more enquiries for the local securities. In the investment section for instance Electrica recovered to $51.25 with more shares wanted at this figure. Hongkong Tramways as indicated were a notable feature, i.e. after having been done down to $9 in the middle of the week, showed considerable strength at the close when buyers bought them up to $10.30 on the strength of rumours of substantial increases in receipts. Hongkong Lands had enquiries around $304. Star Ferries declined to a buying rate of $84. Telephones (old) remained unchanged with enquiries at $25, the new shares came to business at $33. Dairy Farms eased off somewhat with sales at $194. Sterling counters improved a little on account of drop in exchange to 1/24 Hongkong Banks were enquired for around $1580 and Unions changed hands at the slightly enhanced rate of $5124. Minor issues were featureless. Hongkong Hotels receded from $4.65 to $4.55. China Lights eased off somewhat and although sales were put through at $10.80 during the week, sellers predominated at the close at $10.70. Cements remained on the easy side with shares offering at $9. Providents (old) reached a new low record of 95 cents with further buyers at this figure. Philippine shares continued on the active side right up to the close with Antamoks and Demonstrations showing great improvement over the week with business done at $33.21 for the former and 93 cts. to $1.10 respectively for the latter which also announced a 1 centavo dividend. Big Wedge rose to 37 cts., United Paracale to $1.02 and Northern Mining to 36 cents. The tone of the market at the close is again rather quiet in local stocks, but the Philippine mining section continues to be active.
